Proceeds description	The deal will finance capital improvements to the Box Canyon Hydroelectric project, such as turbine upgrades and an upstream fish passage facility. The project became operational in 1956.
Climate Bonds view	Before including this deal in our green bond database we investigated a potentially controversial aspect: the flooding of some reservation lands of the Indian tribe of Kalispel caused by the dam. Our search revealed that the dispute was settled in 1999 and the District is paying annual compensation to the Tribe. As there have been no disputes since then, we consider the issue resolved.
